DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

Figure 3 should be designated by a legend such as --Prior Art-- because only that which is old is illustrated. See MPEP § 608.02(g). A proposed drawing correction or corrected drawings are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 1 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kazunari (JP 08-222840) in combination with Duesman et al. (US 6,331,736) and Applicant's Admitted Prior Art (Fig 3).

Kazunari (English Abstract; Fig 1a-g, 2) discloses a flip-chip packaging method: wherein in flip-chip packaging a semiconductor element ("LSI"; 24) on a circuit board (21), said element having protruding inherent electrodes formed thereon, the method comprising: forming an electrode material (16) on a semiconductor element package region on said circuit board (11) such that a film is formed with a prescribed dry film thickness of 10-20 micrometers, and forming concave circuit electrodes by baking said electrode material film after performing exposure and development of said electrode material film to allow said electrode material film to remain only on prescribed electrode regions , thereby forming concave circuit electrodes having edges warped in a direction of going apart from the circuit board surface; and bringing said protruding electrodes (via 23) formed on said semiconductor element into abutment with concave faces of said concave circuit electrodes, and connecting said protruding electrodes and said circuit electrodes with each; wherein said electrode material film remaining after development is trapezoidal in cross section that is wider as it goes farther away from said circuit board and said circuit electrode is arc-shaped in cross section

Kazunari does not appear to show a flip chip package printing the electrode material that contains a photopolymerizable materials or connecting the protruding electrode and said circuit electrodes via a conductive resin.

Duesman teaches printing a conductive photopolymerizable material (Col. 5, Lines 37-43)

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to form the electrode material of Kazunari by printing a photopolymerizable material in order to form an electrode ("bump site") as taught by Duesman (Col. 5, Lines 37-41

As for connecting the protruding electrode and said circuit electrodes via a conductive resin, Applicant's Admitted Prior Art (Fig 3), discloses connecting the protruding electrode and said circuit electrodes via a conductive resin.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to incorporate a conductive resin in order to package the semiconductor as Admitted by Applicant (Pages 1-2).
